Visit the Howey Mansion

An architectural gem in the Lake County community of Howey-in-the-Hills attests to Ernest Hemingway's oft-quoted remark "The rich are different." To wander through the 20 room mansion built in 1925 by the community's founder, William J. Howey, and stroll over the 15 acres surrounding, brings a nostalgic feeling of how "Once upon a time..."

William J. Howey purchased 60,000 acres in Lake County by 1920, founding the town that was to bear his name five years later.

Following his previous formula for success practice in Polk County, he planted citrus on the majority of his newly acquired acreage.
